Important Update: Belden-Branded Networking Products

In 2025, Belden launched the first industrial networking devices offered under the Belden brand: the Belden Industrial Firewall, introduced in Q3, and the Belden Industrial Access Point, introduced in Q4.

These offerings mark a notable change for partners and customers familiar with the industrial networking portfolios of Belden's connected brands, including Hirschmann and ProSoft Technology. The new devices were developed on the same foundation of reliability and innovation customers have trusted for decades, but will carry the Belden name and branding to reflect our evolution to a provider of complete connection solutions.

Belden Industrial Firewall

Belden Industrial Access Point

With the introduction of these Belden-branded products, all Americas-based distributors and partners authorized to carry the Hirschmann and ProSoft Technology brands will have access to the wireless, wired networking and cybersecurity product families offered under the Belden brand. (Please see complete list of currently applicable products on page two of this message.) Additional Belden-branded networking devices are in development to launch in 2026, which will follow the distribution model described above, unless otherwise noted.
